

YOUR Core Instruction Models

FIRST answer all of the questions for your core instruction model(s). Remember: Access to core content instruction is the primary emphasis of these models. THEN use the Core Content Models worksheet to determine which core instruction model best fits your program model. Write the name of that Core Instruction Model on the line at the top of the column.

Model Components	Your Core Instruction Model _____	Your Core Instruction Model _____	Your Core Instruction Model _____
What are the instructional goals?
What is the instructional approach?
How long is the program?
Who is the target population?

YOUR English Language Development Models

FIRST answer all of the questions for your English language development model(s). Remember: This is how students receive ELD instruction that is appropriate for the English learner’s identified level of language proficiency and that promotes the productive, receptive and interactive communication skills necessary for students to accomplish content-specific tasks. THEN use the English language development worksheet to determine which core instruction model best fits your program model. Write the name of that English language development on the line at the top of the column.

Model Components	Your English Language Development Model _____	Your English Language Development Model _____	Your English Language Development Model _____
What are the instructional goals?
What is the instructional approach?
How long is the program?
Who is the target population?			